The users are enthusiastic about easy-bedding

Dansk Dyrestimuli A/S has spoken with four different professional horse owners, all of whom have used easy-bedding through a longer period of time. How do they judge the product compared to the brand they used before? The feedbacks from the individual stables are equally positive. They are absolutely enthusiastic about the unique qualities of easy-bedding – with regard to the welfare of the horses, the stable work, and the stable environment.

Søren Madsen and Wiebke

It eases the work with our training horses

Søren Madsen, Debelmose Isheste

Søren Madsen has recently qualified from Hólar and is proud to be Hólar's best man of the year 2009 with respect to both teaching and breaking in. Søren trains Icelandic Horses (for crowning, among other things) and participates in competitions at top level. Since September 2009 Søren and Wiebke – Søren's partner – have used easy-bedding, and they are very pleased with the product. Wiebke, particularly with the fact that easy-bedding makes her tending of the many training horses much easier. The new bedding is definitely going to stay.

Mette Koefoed and Tommy Nielsen

Less storage space and a much smaller dung heap

Mette Koefoed and Tommy Nielsen, Team No

There are approximately 30 Icelandic Horses in the stables at Team No, and most of them are kept in horseboxes. The horses are used for competition and teaching, or they are on commission. Since June 2009 Mette and Tommy have used easy-bedding, and they find that it makes their life a great deal easier. For one thing, they are extremely pleased with the fact that easy-bedding requires less storage space – plus, at the same time, it leaves them with a smaller sized dung heap. As an added bonus, the number of flies in the stable has been reduced as well.

Anette L. Jørgensen

A dry and bouncy mattress is important for our stabled horses

Anette L. Jørgensen, competition rider and daily manager of Skjern Rideskole

The riding school in Skjern has about 40 horses in boxes and tie stalls. The horses represent a mix of horses for training and private housing horses. Since June 2009 the riding school in Skjern has used easy-bedding. According to Anette, the horses spend much time in the boxes, which is why it is important to provide them with a dry and bouncy mattress. With its high absorption easy-bedding meets this requirement. Anette also points out that her two stable girls are very enthusiastic about the product, as it has eased their day considerably.
